How to choose your Oliveri sink

Step 1

Decide if an inset or undermount sink best suits your needs

Inset sinks are recommended for laminate bench tops, while undermount sinks are most often chosen for solid work surfaces such as granite.

U = Undermount sink

Step 2

Consider the cabinet size

Make sure the cabinet space below the bench is wide enough to accommodate the sink's bowls.

8 = Cabinet size (e.g. 8=800mm)

Step 3

What is the bench top depth

Standard bench tops are 600mm front to back; some of our larger sinks require a minimum bench depth of 720mm. These sinks are well suited for island bench tops.

+ = 720mm minimum bench depth

Step 4

Accessories

A range of quality, innovative accessories to transform the sink into a hygienic food preparation area are available for every range. Integrated accessories come standard with most Oliveri sinks.

Step 5

Tapware

Oliveri's WELS approved tapware are sourced from world class manufacturers. Combine square style taps with straight line sinks, and round corner sinks with smooth, curved taps to get the most out of your kitchen's aesthetics.
